

Tennessee Model for Comprehensive School Counseling

Revised 2005

Acknowledgment

This document is based on a comprehensive, developmental school counseling program model provided by the American School Counselor Association. The original Tennessee model, The Tennessee School Counseling Program: A Framework for Action, was developed in 1997 by a statewide steering committee facilitated by Mary Simmons, Director of School Counseling Services for the Tennessee Department of Education. The revised model, The Tennessee Model for Comprehensive School Counseling, was developed by a statewide steering committee facilitated by Kellie Hargis, Coordinator of School Counseling Services for the Tennessee Department of Education in 2005.

The revision committee was comprised of the following members:

Mrs. Pat Cole.....	Community Foundation of Middle Tennessee
Mrs. Regina Hamilton Cox.....	Greene County Schools
Mrs. Sonja Sanes.....	Memphis City Schools
Mrs. Amy Ragland.....	Memphis City Schools
Mr. Glenn Harlinger.....	Cheatham County Schools
Mrs. Lorie McCorkle.....	Carter County Schools

Preface

This document offers a program for delivering school counseling services to Tennessee public school children. It is based on a developmental, comprehensive, systematic, sequential and accountable school counseling program model endorsed and distributed by the American School Counselor Association (ASCA).

This document is divided into seven sections, two outliers (the introduction and appendix) and five color-coded model components (preconditions, foundation, management systems, delivery systems, and accountability).

Introduction: includes the Rationale, under girded by the benefits & needs of a comprehensive school counseling program and roles of stakeholders

Preconditions: includes the structural components of the program, such as technology, staffing, materials, equipment, budget, facilities, supplies and other resources

Foundation: includes the Mission/Vision Statements, Guiding Principles, Program Definition, Tennessee Guidance and Counseling Standards, Tennessee Laws and State Board Policy

Management Systems: includes information about Management Agreements, Advisory Council, Use of Data, Action Plans and Use of Time and Calendars

Delivery Systems: includes information about Guidance Curriculum, Individual Student Planning, Responsive Services, and System Support

Accountability: includes information about MEASURE (6 Step Process to Accountability), SPARC Reports, other Results Reports, Program Audits, and Counselor Performance Evaluation: Tennessee “Special Groups” Model.

Appendix: includes the ASCA Ethical Guidelines, necessary forms and other resource information

This model is intended for use by individual school systems across Tennessee. School systems and local schools are encouraged to use this document as a guide in tailoring their own school counseling programs based on the assessed needs of their communities. The writers of this revised framework continued in the way of their predecessors (Framework Committee 1997) and focused on creating a model aligned to national standards, incorporating standards of achievement in the areas of academic, personal/social and career development.

It is the intent of the committee that this model serve as a catalyst of change, empowering and uniting Tennessee school counselors as they fulfill their mission of preparing Tennessee students to live and work in the 21st century.

INTRODUCTION

School counseling programs in Tennessee have always played an important role in the total educational process for our children and youth. School counselors work with students, families, communities, faculties and staff addressing the issues that have a substantial impact on student academic, personal/social and career development. Wherever counselors serve, be it in rural, urban or suburban areas, they strive to meet the needs of all students.

There is a general belief that our public schools are at a critical point and that priorities must change if our schools are to provide the education that will enable our youth to function successfully in our complex society. Across the nation, school counselors are responding to the challenges and expectations by changing traditional position-centered (counselor-centered) services to data-driven, student-centered services.

The Tennessee Model for Comprehensive School Counseling represents what a school counseling program should contain and serves as an organizational tool to identify and prioritize the elements necessary for program implementation. Such programs are vital to the school improvement process. School counselors work strategically as part of an instructional team to promote student success. They are specially trained educators in a position to call attention to situations within our schools that impact student learning. Serving as leaders and advocates, school counselors work collaboratively to provide services in a proactive, developmental and preventative manner.

RATIONALE

The purpose of the Tennessee Model for Comprehensive School Counseling is to focus and revitalize school counseling programs in Tennessee schools to be more responsive to the challenges facing our children, youth, families and communities today and in the future. The continued emphasis is on reaching ALL children with a school counseling program that is based on a clearly defined framework emphasizing student standards, connecting activities and processes. Further, it is to be delivered by a licensed school counselor using appropriate materials and resources. The program must incorporate a team approach, academic, personal/social and career competency development, deficiency remediation and systemic implementation. Additionally, it must be continuously refined through quality evaluation, addressing the changing needs of the student and the school.

SHARED BENEFITS: POSITIVE ASPECTS OF THE TENNESSEE MODEL FOR COMPREHENSIVE SCHOOL COUNSELING

For Students

- Facilitates academic development and increased achievement
- Promotes career exploration and development in our changing world
- Ensures equitable access to educational opportunities
- Strengthens understanding of self and others in a diverse society
- Increases the number and quality of opportunities for counselor-student interactions
- Promotes a rigorous academic curriculum for every student

For Parents/Guardians

- Provides support regarding their child's short range and long range educational development
- Increases opportunities for collaboration and communication between parents and school
- Improves parents' understanding of the school counseling program and its benefits
- Assists parents in obtaining necessary resources
- Ensures academic planning for every student

For Business, Industry and Labor

- Provides increased opportunities for schools to collaborate with the business community, industry and labor

- Enhances the role of the counselor as a community resource person
- Supports the academic preparation necessary for students' success in the workforce

For Local School Board Members

- Provides a rationale for implementing a comprehensive, developmental school counseling program
- Provides a structure for defining school counseling programs
- Provides for equity and consistency of school counseling services within districts
- Demonstrates the need for appropriate levels of funding

For Administrators/Principals

- Provides program structure with specific content
- Provides a quantitative means of evaluating comprehensive, developmental school counseling programs
- Enhances the image of the school in the community
- Promotes a curriculum responsive to local needs

For Teachers

- Encourages positive, supportive working relationships among teachers and counselors
- Provides teachers with a resource person who can assist them in analyzing and interpreting data

For School Counselors

- Clearly defines their role and function with emphasis on direct services to students
- Creates a tool for program management and evaluation
- Provides opportunities to serve all students
- Clearly defines responsibilities and activities for achieving specific student competencies
- Ensures the program's contribution to the school's mission

For Post-Secondary Educators

- Enhances articulation and transition of students to post-secondary institutions
- Prepares every student for advanced educational opportunities
- Motivates every student to seek a wide range of substantial, post-secondary options
- Encourages and supports rigorous academic preparation
- Promotes equity and access to post-secondary education for all students

ROLES IN RELATIONSHIP TO THE SCHOOL COUNSELING PROGRAM

School counseling is an integral part of the school program. The school counseling model is developmental and sequential. It is implemented by licensed school counselors with the support of teachers, administrators, support personnel, students, parents and community members. The school counseling program belongs to everyone and serves all students.

The Role of the School Counselor

- To counsel with students individually and in small groups
- To present developmental lessons in the classroom and in small groups
- To serve as a student advocate
- To consult with teachers, administrators, school support personnel, parents and business/community agencies
- To participate in school meetings
- To work with parents in teaching effective parenting skills, creating a positive environment, and encouraging parent participation
- To provide staff development in identified areas of need and in orientation to the school counseling program
- To provide leadership in career development of all students
- To coordinate school activities pertaining to the school counseling program
- To facilitate the evaluation of the school counseling program

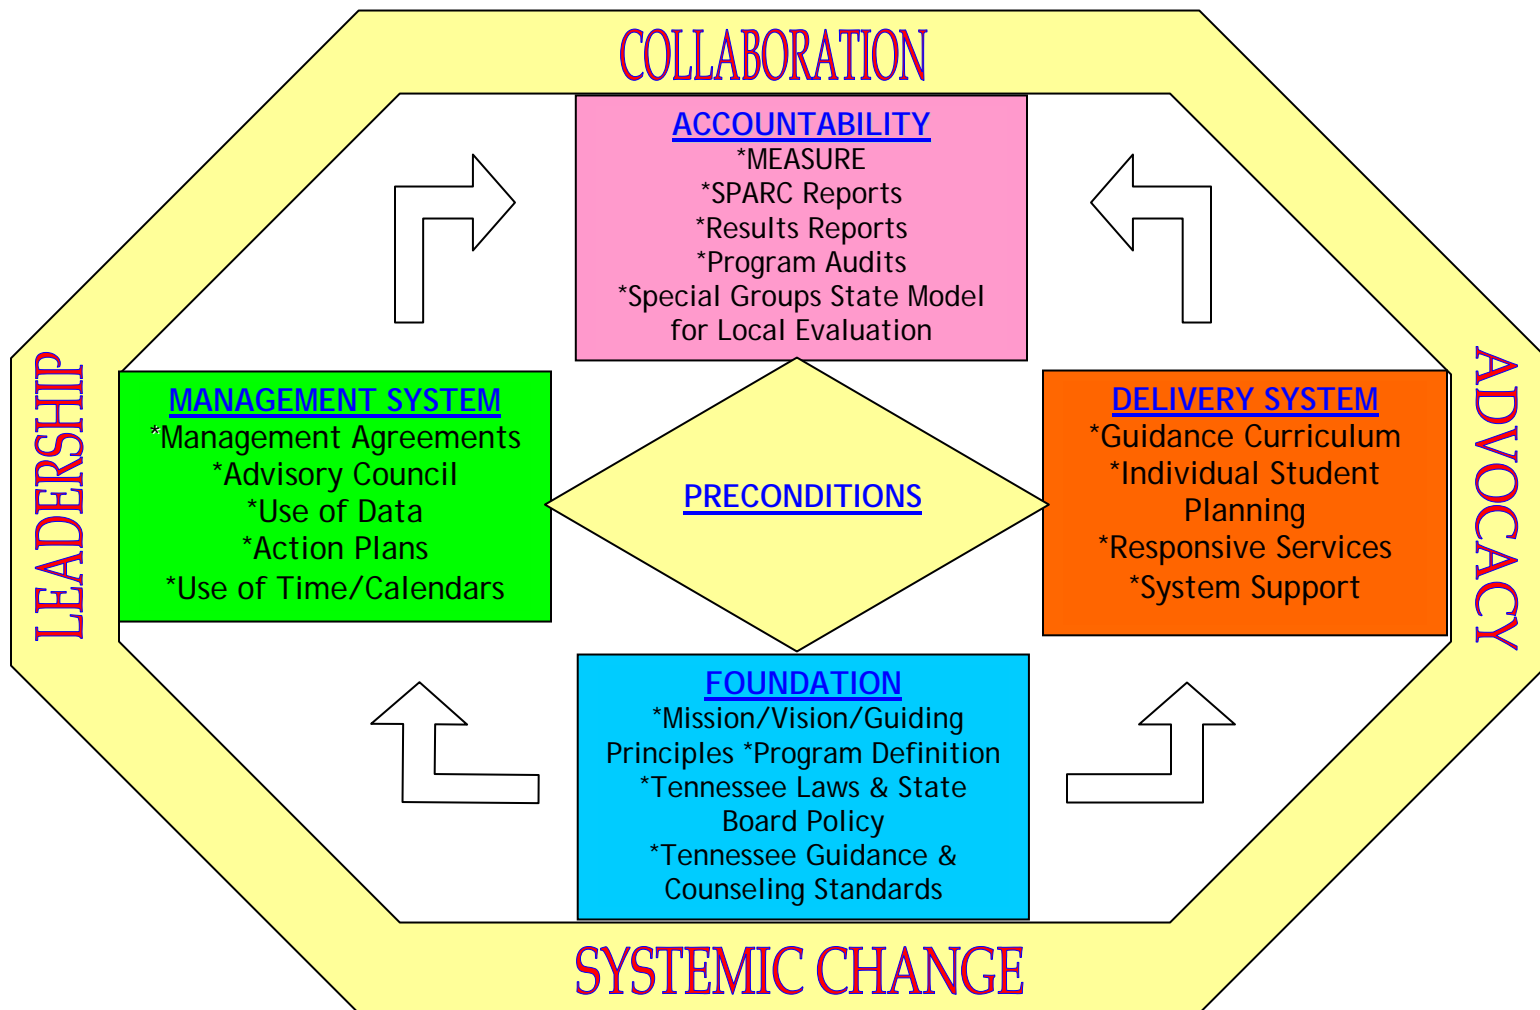

The Role of the Principal

- To support the school counseling program
- To assist the school counselor, as needed
- To consult with the school counselor
- To provide appropriate facilities and equipment
- To work with the counselor in establishing an advisory council
- To help the counselor insure that the school counseling program is an integral part of the total school program
- Assist in the evaluation of the school counseling program
- To recommend for employment properly licensed counselors

The Role of the Teacher

- To share insight and knowledge with the counselor in creating a positive environment for the student
- To support and assist with the implementation of the school counseling program
- To assist in identifying students with special needs and in making appropriate referrals
- To share student data with the counselor
- To incorporate information and insight from the counselor in developing effective teaching strategies
- To recognize that all students need some assistance in resolving problems
- To recognize that the school counseling program is vital to student academic success
- To collaborate with the school counselor in integrating the school counseling program into the academic program

Tennessee Model for Comprehensive School Counseling

OVERVIEW

The model graphic on the previous page represents the operational structure and components of the Tennessee Model for Comprehensive School Counseling. Like The ASCA National Model: A Framework for School Counseling Programs (2003), the graphic contains three levels and four squares, each representing one of the major systems of the model. All major components are listed in the model graphic within corresponding major systems. The major systems are as follows:

Preconditions: includes the structural components of the program, such as technology, staffing, materials, equipment, budget, facilities, supplies and other resources

Foundation: includes the Mission/Vision Statements, Guiding Principles, Program Definition, Tennessee Guidance and Counseling Standards, Tennessee Laws and State Board Policy

Management Systems: includes Management Agreements, Advisory Council, Use of Data, Action Plans and Use of Time and Calendars

Delivery Systems: includes elements of Guidance Curriculum, Individual Student Planning, Responsive Services, and System Support

Accountability: includes information about MEASURE (6 Step Process to Accountability), SPARC Reports, other Results Reports, Program Audits, and Counselor Performance Evaluation: Tennessee “Special Groups” Model.

THE PRECONDITIONS:

BUDGET
FACILITIES
TECHNOLOGY

PRECONDITIONS

Budget

An adequate school counseling budget shall be established to reflect program needs. The counseling staff shall be included in the budget planning. Counselors should provide information regarding funds needed and knowledge of other funding sources that may be available. Such information should be included in the management agreement.

Facilities

A counseling center should be established in each school to implement a comprehensive school counseling program. The center should be accessible to all students including those with disabilities.

Facility Requirements:

- Appropriate space for individual and group counseling and large group programs
- A private office for the school counselor that is designed with the student's right to privacy and confidentiality
- Adequate space to organize and display school counseling materials

Resources

Materials

Materials should be current and available to counselors in order for them to implement developmentally appropriate activities for each grade level.

Material Requirements:

- Curriculum materials - kits, books, software, videos, games
- Assessment materials - interest and aptitude assessments, self-assessment, learning style inventories

Supplies/Equipment

Supplies and equipment should be relevant to the program and appropriate for the community it serves. These should be easily accessible and of sufficient quantity to support the program.

Supply/Equipment Requirements:

- Adequate supplies for office, such as paper, writing utensils, printer, printer cartridge, copy machine and other miscellaneous office supplies
- Access to TV/VCR/DVD player
- Appropriate locking file cabinets, telephone, and computer

Technology

School counselors use technology daily in the form of the Internet, word processing, student database systems and presentation software. Technology is used to help students perform career and educational searches and create online portfolios and four year plans. Additionally, technology is used in planning, implementing and evaluating the comprehensive school counseling program. Counselors should receive appropriate and adequate training in all areas of technology advancements and updates.

Technology Requirements:

- Computer for counselor use only
- Access to computer lab for program activities
- Access to printer(s), faxes, and copiers
- Technology and computer/related supplies

Staffing

The school counselor shall be licensed by the Tennessee Department of Education and shall have the training needed for fulfilling the responsibilities and specialized job assignments. It is strongly recommended that the length of a counselor's contract be extended to eleven months to assure adequate time to plan and implement a quality program. Appropriate counselor/student ratios are critical for program success and increased student achievement and development.

The Tennessee Better Education Program (BEP) recommendation:

- Elementary Guidance Counselors - Grades K-6: 1:500
- Secondary Guidance Counselors - Grades 7- 12: 1:350

American School Counselor Association recommendation:

It is the position of the American School Counselor Association that the counselor/student ratio be determined by considering the major factor of student growth and development. Each school system is unique; what may be an ideal caseload in one system may be untenable in others. ASCA maintains that the implementation of a comprehensive school counseling program meeting the developmental needs of students be the primary determinants with the ratio being 1:250 or less.

Additionally, clerical support staff and other system support should be provided to ensure the effective management and delivery of quality comprehensive school counseling programs.

FOUNDATION:

MISSION/VISION
GUIDING PRINCIPLES
PROGRAM DEFINITION
TENNESSEE LAWS
STATE BOARD POLICY
TENNESSEE SCHOOL COUNSELING &
CAREER GUIDANCE STANDARDS

FOUNDATION

The program's foundation serves as the solid ground upon which the rest of the program is built. Elements include, mission/vision, guiding principles, program definition, Tennessee laws and Tennessee State Board of Education policy, and the Tennessee School Counseling and Career Guidance PK-12 Standards.

Mission

Tennessee Comprehensive School Counseling Programs will provide educational support for all students by promoting and facilitating their academic, personal/social and career development.

Vision

As a result of the implementation of the Tennessee Comprehensive School Counseling Program, all students will be academically prepared, well adjusted members of society, lifelong learners and productive citizens.

Guiding Principles

1. All students* can achieve.
2. All students* have dignity and worth.
3. All students* need, deserve and must be provided a quality education.
4. All students* need, deserve and must be provided the support and guidance of caring, knowledgeable and skilled adults throughout their educational experience in order to ensure success.
5. Quality comprehensive school counseling programs are vital to the overall success of all students*, schools and communities.

*[Regardless of race, gender, ethnicity, cultural background, sexual orientation, disability, socio-economic status, learning ability level or language]

Program Definition

A school counseling program is comprehensive in scope, preventative in design and developmental in nature, designed to ensure that every student receives the program benefits.

Implemented by a credentialed school counselor(s), it is an integral part of the total education program as counselors work collaboratively with faculty/staff, students, families and community members to help meet the academic, personal/social and career preparation needs of ALL students.

Tennessee State Laws

49-6-303. School counselors.

- (a) (1) Each LEA shall employ or contract with school counselors for grades pre-kindergarten through twelve (pre-K-12).
- (2) The school counseling program shall be established and operated under guidelines adopted by the state board of education.
- (3) The state board of education shall report on the implementation and effectiveness of the program in its annual report to the general assembly.
- (b) School counselors shall provide preventive and developmental counseling to school students in order to prepare them for their school responsibilities and their social and physical development. In providing these services, school counselors shall:
 - (1) Aid children in academic development through the use and interpretation of test scores, improved pupil self-concept, and early identification and attention to problems that are deterrents to learning and development;
 - (2) Act in a consultative role to teachers relative to the use of test scores and improvement of the learning environment, use of out-of-school resources and agencies and development of a home-school liaison;
 - (3) Offer services related to the identification and placement of children with handicapping conditions;
 - (4) Serve in a consultative role to parents, in a liaison capacity, as a resource in understanding growth and development problems, and as an aid in understanding how some nonschool factors affect learning and achievement of children;

(5) Serve as a resource in decreasing discipline problems through an understanding of peer relations, teacher-pupil relations, social awareness and drug awareness;

(6) Aid in improving school attendance and retention by implementing an early identification and prevention program for potential attendance and retention problems;

(7) Serve as a resource in decreasing the incidence of juvenile delinquency by early intervention through guidance and counseling services;

(8) Act as a resource and consultant to teachers in implementing a career development program which, at the elementary school level, includes self-awareness, job awareness and pre-vocational orientation;

(9) Provide an available source for youngsters needing someone to "just listen" to their problems or concerns; and

(10) Serve as a resource and consultant to teachers in implementing an intervention program that utilizes conflict resolution and decision-making strategies aimed at preventing occurrences of disruptive acts by students within the school and on school property.

(c) The minimum requirement to be employed as a school counselor shall be an appropriate license granted by the state board of education.

[Acts 1985, ch. 472, § 1; 1999, ch. 256, § 1; 1999, ch. 367, § 3; 1999, ch. 372, §§ 1-5.]

49-5-302. School counselors and school teachers.

(a) A school counselor or school teacher is responsible solely for providing counseling and guidance to students at the school or schools at which the counselor is employed. If a counselor is employed as such on a less than full-time basis, those hours devoted to guidance and counseling shall be specified and adhered to closely. A school counselor is not responsible for general school administration or reports, except such reports as may be connected with the school's guidance program.

(b) Counseling and guidance include, but are not limited to:

(1) Counseling on academic problems or decisions;

(2) Counseling on social or peer-group pressure problems;

(3) Career counseling and guidance;

(4) Guidance on socialization and group interaction;

(5) Motivational guidance;

(6) Behavioral guidance; and

(7) Counseling on personal problems.

School Counseling and Career Guidance Standards

The proposed Tennessee School Counseling and Career Guidance Standards are statements of what students should know and be able to do as a result of participating in a school counseling program. Since the purpose of such a program is to ensure that all students can achieve school success through academic, career and personal/social development experiences, these standards represent what a school counseling and career guidance program should contain and establish similar goals, expectations, support systems and experiences for every student.

The standards address the needs outlined in the educational reform agenda articulated in the State Board of Education's MASTER PLAN FOR TENNESSEE SCHOOLS by advocating school counseling programs that promote school success through a focus on academic achievement, prevention and intervention, and social/emotional and career development. The organizational design of the standards reflects the nine standards in the National Standards for School Counseling Programs developed by the American School Counselor Association, which, in turn, are based on the three widely accepted and interrelated areas of student development: academic, career, and personal and social development. The standards and expectations for academic development guide the school-counseling program to implement strategies and activities to support and maximize learning; for career development serve as a guide to provide the foundation for acquiring the attitudes, knowledge and skills that enable students to make a successful transition from school to the world of work and from job to job across the career life span; for personal/social development provide the foundation for personal and social growth, which contributes to academic and career success.

The standards have been developed by a team of thirty-three school counselors, teachers, administrators, parents, community members and state department personnel. The document has been reviewed by practicing school counselors throughout the state and by the Executive Board of the Tennessee School Counselor Association. The resulting comments and suggestions have been incorporated into this document. Department staff will disseminate the proposed standards and review additional comments prior to the second reading before the Board.

Tennessee School Counseling and Career Guidance Standards

Organizational Design

The Tennessee School Counseling and Career Guidance Standards are based on the National Standards for School Counseling Programs of the American School Counselor Association.

Grade Stands

K-2
3-5
6-8
9-12

Standard Domains

Academic Development
Career Development
Personal and Social Development

Academic Development

Standard 1: Students will acquire the attitudes, knowledge and skills that contribute to effective learning in school and across the life span. Standard 2: Students will complete school with the academic preparation essential to choose from a wide range of substantial post-secondary options, including college. Standard 3: Students will understand the relationship of academics to the world of work, and to life at home and in the community.

Career Development

Standard 4: Students will acquire the skills to investigate the world of work in relation to knowledge of self and to make informed career decisions. Standard 5: Students will employ strategies to achieve future career success and satisfaction. Standard 6: Students will understand the relationship between personal qualities, education and training, and the world of work.

Personal and Social Development

Standard 7: Students will acquire the attitudes, knowledge, and interpersonal skills to help them understand and respect self and others. Standard 8: Students will make decisions, set goals, and take necessary action to achieve goals. Standard 9: Students will understand safety and survival skills.

Learning Expectations indicate the attitudes, knowledge and skills that help students meet the standard at each of the four grade strands.

Performance Indicators identify the quality of the student performance expected for each grade strand at the beginning, proficient and advanced level.

Sample Performance Tasks are specific grade strand activities supporting each standard.

Integration: This section contains cross-referenced information from all disciplines. (K-8: English/ Language Arts, Math, Social Studies, Science, Health, Physical Education) (9-12: English II, Algebra I, Biology I, U.S. History, Wellness).

Key to the K-8 Health Standards: DPF- Disease Prevention; ESMH-Emotional, Social, Mental Health; ECH-Environmental & Community Health; FLS-Family Life & Sexuality; N-Nutrition; PHRF-Personal Health and Related Fitness; PSFA-Personal Safety and First Aid; SUA-Substance Use and Abuse.

Grade Levels K-2 Academic Development

Standard 1: Skills for Academic Self-Confidence, Learning and Success

Student will acquire the attitudes, knowledge, and skills that contribute to effective learning in school and across the life span.

K-2 Learning Expectations

The student will

- 1.1 demonstrate academic self-confidence.
- 1.2 demonstrate pride in work and achievement.
- 1.3 identify the study skills necessary for academic success.
- 1.4 demonstrate taking responsibility for schoolwork.
- 1.5 demonstrate working both independently and cooperatively.

K-2 Performance Indicators

At Level 1, the student will be able to

- describe what is needed to be ready for class.
- demonstrate good listening skills.

At Level 2, the student will be able to

- share knowledge with peers.
- demonstrate working cooperatively in a group.

- select examples of “best” schoolwork.
- work independently on tasks to completion.
- complete assignments on time.

At Level 3, the student will be able to:

- examine how effort affects learning.
- acknowledge mistakes as essential to the learning process.

Sample Task

Read the book Responsible Rascal to students. Discuss the meaning of the word “responsibility.” Ask the students to name responsibilities they have at school that help them to learn (e. g. listening to the teacher, following directions, completing work, asking for help when needed).

Integration:

English/Language Arts: 1.02, 1.10, 1.11, 1.14, 2.02 Social Studies: 4.03, 4.04, 6.01
Health: ESMH-SD.1, FLS SD 1, 2 Physical Education: 3.2, 3.3

Grade Level K-2 Academic Development

Standard 2: Improve Learning and Achieve Challenging Goals

Students will complete school with the academic preparation essential to choose from a wide range of substantial post-secondary options, including college.

K-2 Learning Expectations

The student will

- 2.1 practice critical thinking skills in learning situations.
- 2.2 apply self-directed and independent learning techniques.
- 2.3 identify academic goals.
- 2.4 develop positive attitudes toward learning.

K-2 Performance Indicators

At Level 1, the student will be able to

- work independently on a learning task.
- identify personal strengths.

At Level 2, the student will be able to

- justify answers using critical thinking skills.
- identify school expectations.
- identify positive attitudes toward learning.
- demonstrate the ability to follow instructions and complete assignments.

At Level 3, the student will be able to

- demonstrate self-directed and independent learning techniques.
- identify educational short and long term goals.

Sample Task: When the Going Gets Tough....

Students draw a picture or write a paragraph on how the slogan “When the Going Gets Tough-the Tough Get Going” applies to learning in school. Students will write the name of the subject they find most difficult and three reasons why it is difficult. Place students into groups according to the subject they chose. They will brainstorm five methods for improvement. Each group will report and display a list of their suggestions. In large group, discuss goal setting and the importance of setting goals for difficult subjects. (Lessons for Life, Van Zandt & Buchan, Vol. 1, 1997, The Center for Applied Research)

Integration

English/ Language Arts: 1.12, 1.14 Math: K.1.3 Health: ESMH-SD 3

Grade Level K-2
Academic Development

Standard 3: Relate School to Life Experiences

Students will understand the relationship of academics to the world of work, and to life at home and in the community.

K-2 Learning

Expectations

The student will

- 1.1 identify schoolwork, extracurricular activities and family activities.
- 1.2 recognize the connection between schoolwork and the world of work.

K-2 Performance Indicators

At Level 1, the student will be able to

- identify helpers in the school and community.

At Level 2, the student will be able to

- articulate school work-habits that transfer to the world of work.

At Level 3, the student will be able to:

- compare and contrast the roles of school and community helpers.

Sample Task: Busy Bees

Students will brainstorm as many school jobs as possible (cleaning boards, delivering messages, leading the line, helper, completing assignments). In small groups students will list and identify skills needed for each job (e.g. messenger- knowing locations, being responsible). Identify adult jobs that require the same skills. Ask: “How does what we are learning now help to prepare us for the future jobs/ careers?”(Lessons for Life, Van Zandt & Buchan, Vol. 1, 1997, The Center for Applied Research)

Grade Level 3-5 Academic Development

Standard 1: Skills for Academic self-confidence, Learning and Success

Student will acquire the attitudes, knowledge, and skills that contribute to effective learning in school and across the life span.

3-5 Learning

Expectations The student will

- 1.1 demonstrate academic self-confidence.
- 1.2 demonstrate pride in work and achievement.
- 1.3 demonstrate the study skills necessary for academic success.
- 1.4 practice taking responsibility for schoolwork.
- 1.5 demonstrate the ability to work independently and cooperatively.
- 1.6 recognize the importance of regular school attendance.

3-5 Performance Indicators At Level 1, the student will be able to

- demonstrate the ability to follow directions.
- select examples of “best” schoolwork.

At Level 2, the student will be able to

- use good study habits to achieve academic success.
- work cooperatively in a group or team.

- tell why it is important to attend school regularly and on time.
- record assignments in daily planner.

At Level 3, the student will be able to

- facilitate a study group.
- articulate personal qualities that promote school success.

Sample Task: Study Skills:

Students will work in cooperative groups to brainstorm a list of effective study and learning skills that they may have already begun to develop and could possibly improve. In a large group identify and chart the problems they have in applying the skills and what actions they could take to improve the skill. Ask: “How can these suggestions help improve your study habits?” (Lessons for Life, Van Zandt & Buchan, Vol. 1, 1997, The Center for Applied Research)

- 7.8 work effectively with diverse populations.

9-12 Performance Indicators

At Level 1, the student will be able to

- assess personal strengths and assets.
- recognize how attitudes and values affect life.
- demonstrate effective communication in a cooperative setting.
- recognize how listening skills are useful in building relationships.

At Level 2, the student will be able to

- value self and others with regard to individual differences.
- explain what personal assets he/she brings to a cooperative team.
- recognize the impact of change and transition in significant life events.
- recognize that everyone has rights and responsibilities.
- identify changing personal and social roles.
- identify environmental influences on one's behaviors (music, media, consumer marketing).
- distinguish between assertive and aggressive communication.
- assess the value of building and maintaining relationships.
- demonstrate and interpret nonverbal communication.
- develop strategies for initiating a discussion of teen issues within the family.

At Level 3, the student will be able to

- analyze behaviors that contribute to physical and mental health.
- distinguish between assertive and aggressive communication.
- assess the value of building and maintaining relationships.
- demonstrate and interpret nonverbal communication.

Sample Task: Conflict Management

Using a simple story such as "The Zax" by Dr. Seuss, describe a situation in which a conflict arises and each party refuses to budge an inch.

- ☐ Stop reading at an appropriate place and have student predict the outcome
- ☐ Ask: "Who won?"
- ☐ Explore the long term effects on the individuals in the argument, those around them and progress in general
- ☐ Brainstorm real-life situations that are similar to the Zax. "The Zax" is included in the book The Sneetches by Dr. Seuss. New York, Random House, 1961.

Grade Level 9-12
Personal and Social Development

Standard 8: Self-Knowledge Application

Students will make decisions, set goals, and take necessary action to achieve goals.

9-12 Learning

Expectations

The student will

- 8.1 evaluate alternatives, resources, and the impact of consequences in the decision making process.
- 8.2 evaluate alternative plans to achieve goals.
- 8.3 create a plan and persevere to achieve goals.

9-12 Performance Indicators

At Level 1, the student will be able to

- describe personal attributes that affect education and life goals.
- discuss the effects of education, work, and family on individual decision making.

At Level 2, the student will be able to

- utilize assessment results in setting of personal goals.
- analyze how expectations of others affects career, personal, educational decisions.
- identify legally and socially acceptable behaviors/options.
- explore key resources to assist in goal attainment.

At Level 3, the student will be able to

- appraise personal skills that contribute to physical and mental health.

Sample Task: Number Connections

Talk with students about decisions they have made. Point out that students use a decision-making process all the time, but may not realize it. Distribute steps of the process. Present situations that students might face. Divide the class into small work groups; give each group a situation. Using the decision making process, have students work through possible solutions and state possible consequences of the decision.

Expectations

The student will

9.1 analyze stress and its effects on all aspects of health and wellness.

9.2 utilize available resources to manage peer pressure, personal safety issues and other life stresses.

9.3 evaluate how choices impact health, safety, personal goals, educational opportunities, and career choices.

9.4 utilize skills to recognize, report, and protect against threats to personal safety.

9-12 Performance Indicators

At Level 1, the student will be able to

- gather information concerning current trends in safe and healthy lifestyles.
- demonstrate techniques for handling overt and subtle bullying and harassment.
- list physical, emotional, and psychological risks involved with sexual activity.

At Level 2, the student will be able to

- evaluate the consequences of personal decisions.
- recognize and demonstrate coping strategies for management of personal crises.
- identify skills for resisting persuasive tactics where personal safety at risk.
- explore the impact of prejudices and stereotyping on conflicts.
- recognize the importance of following recommended safety restrictions.
- recognize indicators of potential crisis and report suspicions to school or other appropriate authorities.

At Level 3, the student will be able to

- implement strategies to deal successfully with life transitions.
- explore situations when it is appropriate to breach confidentiality.
- establish a connection with a healthy support network.

Sample Task: Conflict Resolution

Compare conflict to a rocket representing the escalating stages of conflict. Have the class form small work groups or work as a whole to brainstorm ways de-escalate the violent situation and the possible consequences of each choice (e.g. avoiding, sharing, apologizing, getting help, humor, compromising, leaving).

THE MANAGEMENT SYSTEM:

MANAGEMENT AGREEMENTS
ADVISORY COUNCIL
USE OF DATA
ACTION PLANS
USE OF TIME/CALENDARS

MANAGEMENT SYSTEM

In order to systematically deliver a quality program addressing every student's needs, the program must be efficiently and effectively managed. This section addresses the when (action plan and calendar), why (use of data), who will implement (management agreement) and on what authority (management agreement and advisory council) the school counseling program is delivered.

Management Agreements

Management agreements are to be established annually between school counselors and the principal. The counselor should produce and present yearly a draft of the agreement; the principal then reviews the document and arrives at consensus with the school counselor as to how students, guidance curriculum and services will be assigned to specific counselors. Decisions should be made based on site needs and data analysis. When the principal and school counselors meet and agree on program priorities, implementation strategies and the organization of the counseling department, the entire program runs more smoothly is more likely to produce the desired results for students.

See Appendix for sample MANAGEMENT AGREEMENT

Advisory Council

An advisory council is a representative group of persons appointed to both advise and assist the school counseling program. Council membership should reflect the community's diversity and may include school staff, parents, school board members, student and business and community representatives. Advisory councils should meet twice a year at a minimum and may be organized at the system and the individual school level.

Use of Data

A comprehensive school counseling program is data driven. The use of data to effect change within the school system is integral to ensuring students success. School counselors should be proficient in the collection, analysis, and interpretation of data. School Counselors monitor student progress through collection of various types of data:

- Process data offers evidence only that an event or activity occurred. For example, school counselors may present the numbers of students seen individually, in groups, or in classrooms.
- Perception data is gathered from needs assessments or surveys and report opinions at the time of data collection.
- Results data answers the question "so what?" and provides evidence that a student competency is not just mastered but has affected course-taking patterns, graduation rates, knowledge attainment, attendance, behavior, and/or academic achievement (ASCA, 2003).

- School improvement data presents the picture of the current status of student needs, accomplishments and progress. When the school counseling program impacts school improvement data, effectiveness is self evident and these intentional practices lead to higher levels of student success (Stone & Dahir, 2004)

Listed above are sample types of data counselors may need to gather and analyze. Each local school/district should decide what is important to monitor. Counselors cannot monitor everything; therefore choices must be made depending on what is most appropriate and what is available at each local site.

It is necessary to note that while it is important for school counselors to generate, analyze and interpret data, school counselors are NOT data entry clerks or attendance clerks and should not be used as such.

School counselors may find relevant data through such tools as student education and career planning folders, also known as student portfolios. These often include, but are not limited to, the following documentation:

- Course selection
- Path choice
- Extracurricular involvement
- Awards and certificates
- Letters of recommendation
- Student resume
- Assessment results

Additional information regarding data collection and analysis can be found in the Accountability section of this handbook.

Action Plans

For effective delivery of services, school counselors must develop a plan of action detailing annual program activities as a means of addressing how desired results will be achieved. The Action Plan consists of structured developmental lessons designed to assist students in achieving the Tennessee Guidance and Counseling Standards. Selected components should relate to the School Improvement Plan (SIP).

Action Plans usually contain:

- Domain, standard and SIP goal to be addressed
- Student competency addressed
- Description of the activity
- Curriculum/materials being used in the activity
- Time line for completion
- Means of evaluation

- Expected result as demonstrated by student
- Person responsible
- # students involved

See Appendix for sample ACTION PLAN

Use of Time and Calendars

Time

School counselors should keep track of their time and document activities performed throughout the day. This documentation serves as a guide for future planning and program evaluation. ASCA recommends that school counselors spend the majority of their time in direct service to students. Gysbers and Henderson (2000)* are more specific in their recommendation for time distribution, suggesting that school counselors spend 80% of their time in direct service to students and 20% in program management.

While the amount of time counselors should spend delivering services in each component area remains relative to the individualized needs of each school, ASCA provides the following recommendation:

Sample Distribution of Total School Counselor Time within the Delivery System Component

Delivery System Component	Elementary School % of Time	Middle School % of Time	High School % of Time
Guidance Curriculum	35% - 45%	25% - 35%	15% - 25%
Individual Student Planning	5% - 10%	15% - 25%	25% - 35%
Responsive Services	30% - 40%	30%- 40%	25% - 35%
System Support	10% - 15%	10% - 15%	15% - 20%

*Adapted from Gysbers, N.C. & Henderson, P. (Eds.) (2000). Developing and managing your school guidance program, (3rd ed.), Alexandria, VA: American Counseling Association.

Calendars

School counselors should develop and publish a master calendar of program events and activities. Calendars support program planning and help to facilitate involvement of stakeholders in the school counseling program. These can be great public relations tools. Thought must be given as to consistency of timing and distribution methods, format and attractiveness of the design, color and detail.

THE DELIVERY SYSTEM:

GUIDANCE CURRICULUM
RESPONSIVE SERVICES
SYSTEM SUPPORT

DELIVERY SYSTEM

The Delivery System is the “how” of the implementation process. It consists of activities, interactions and areas in which school counselors work to deliver the program. Within the delivery system there are four components: guidance curriculum, individual student planning, responsive services, and system support.

Guidance Curriculum

The school guidance curriculum is designed to facilitate the systemic delivery of lessons or activities to all students. These should be aligned to the Tennessee Guidance and Counseling Standards, addressing established student competencies. The guidance curriculum promotes knowledge, attitudes and skills through instruction in three domains of student development: academic, personal/social and career. School counselors should differentiate their teaching strategies to address the diverse needs of every student served. Student mastery of competencies should be assessed using a variety of methods.

The guidance curriculum is often delivered through:

Classroom Instruction: School counselors provide instruction, via teaching, team teaching or assisting in the teaching of the guidance curriculum in the classroom, career center or other school facilities.

Interdisciplinary Curriculum Development: School counselors participate with other faculty in designing lessons which integrate content area units of study and the guidance curriculum.

Group Activities: School counselors provide instruction to students within a small group setting outside of the classroom.

Parent/Community Workshops: School counselors conduct workshops and informational sessions for parents/guardians and others.

It must be noted that a school counselor should NOT be used as the teacher of record for content courses. This is a misuse of their time and expertise. Additionally, while classroom guidance curriculum activities are worthwhile and an integral part of the total comprehensive counseling program, school counselors should NOT be required to spend all of their time in the classroom. (See page 28 for distribution of time recommendations)

Individual Student Planning

This component consists of school counselor coordinated systemic activities that help ALL students plan, monitor, and manage their own learning as well as meet competencies in the areas of academic, personal/social and career development. School counselors also help students make the transition from home to school, school to school, school to work or school to higher education or career or technical training.

Individual student planning is often implemented through such strategies as:

Individual or Small Group Appraisal: School counselors assist students in analyzing and evaluating abilities, interests, skills, and achievement.

Individual or Small Group Advisement: School counselors assist students in establishing educational, career, personal and social goals by involving parents, students, school, business and community.

...and often includes such activities as:

- test score review/interpretation
- career decision making
- 4-year or 6-year planning
- yearly course selection
- scholarship/financial aid
- interest inventories
- college selection

Responsive Services

This component consists of activities coordinated by school counselors to meet the immediate needs and concerns of students. These services are available to ALL students and are often student initiated through self-referral; although others may also refer students for assistance.

Responsive services are often delivered using such strategies as:

Individual/Small Group Counseling: Counseling is provided on a small group or individual basis for students.

Consultation: School counselors consult with parents, teachers, other educators and community agencies regarding strategies to assist students and families.

Referral: School counselors use referral sources to deal with crises such as suicide, violence, abuse, illness, and death.

Crisis Counseling: School counselors provide prevention, intervention and follow-up to students facing emergency situations.

Peer Mediation: School counselors train students as peer mediators, conflict managers, tutors and mentors.

System Support

System support consists of management activities which establish, maintain, and enhance the total school counseling program. These activities include, but are not limited to:

Professional Development: School counselors should be actively involved in updating their professional knowledge and skills through in-service trainings (providing them as well as attending them), professional association membership, and continued post-graduate education and research.

Program Management/Operations: School counselors should coordinate planning and management tasks which support the activities of a comprehensive, developmental school counseling program. Additionally, as members of the faculty team, they should perform fair share responsibilities just as expected of all other staff members.

Consultation/Collaboration/Teaming: School counselors should consult and collaborate with faculty/staff, parents/guardians and community members in order to provide and receive information relevant to the school counseling program and the meeting of student needs.

THE ACCOUNTABILITY SYSTEM:

MEASURE
SPARC REPORTS
RESULTS REPORTS
PROGRAM AUDIT
SPECIAL GROUPS STATE MODEL FOR EVALUATION

ACCOUNTABILITY

Accountability and evaluation of the school counseling program are absolute necessities. Data must be collected and analyzed in an effort to evaluate the quality of the program. School counselors should develop specific and measurable goals. They should be prepared and expected to provide an answer to the question “How are students different because of the school counseling program?” with quantitative as well as qualitative data responses.

Although accountability has always been part of the school counselor’s professional responsibility, the No Child Left Behind (2001) legislation has raised the bar on accountability for everyone in education, including school counselors. The legislation, calls for all stakeholders in the school system to share responsibility for collectively removing barriers that impede learning and student success. School counselors are now focused on measurable results of the school counseling program and its impact on student achievement

All school staff work in an accountability-driven environment as schools are rated annually on their yearly progress. Accountability requires all educators to systematically collect, analyze, and use data to examine student achievement. School counselors can demonstrate and communicate how their school counseling programs positively impact student achievement and, by so doing, share accountability for school improvement with school and community

Stakeholders at the school, community, and state levels that have an interest in the work of school counselors continue to seek evidence that school counseling programs are accountable, promote student achievement, and address an advocacy agenda for equity in educational opportunities. Increasingly school counselors are being challenged to demonstrate the effectiveness of the school counseling program in measurable terms. If this challenge is to be met, school counselors must assume a leadership role for program development and implementation that is based on the Tennessee Guidance and Counseling Standards and connected to the goals of school improvement.

Using Data

Data informs, confirms progress, and reveals shortcomings in student performance (Stone & Dahir, 2004). In order to demonstrate the effectiveness of the school counseling program on student academic achievement and success, and the impact of the program on the goals of NCLB, school counselors need to use data. School counselors can collect and analyze student data to inform and guide the development of a comprehensive school counseling program based upon school wide issues. Annual school report cards publicize critical data elements such as attendance, graduation rates, postsecondary planning rates, and TCAP assessments. Data can be used to document the results of classroom lessons, the individual student planning sessions by grade level, and the strategies and interventions used to improve student academic achievement and equitable access for all students to programs and resources.

School counselors often use one of the following data sources to highlight program accomplishments:

- Process data offers evidence only that an event or activity occurred. For example, school counselors may present the numbers of students seen individually, in groups, or in classrooms.
- Perception data is gathered from needs assessments or surveys and report opinions at the time of data collection.
- Results data answers the question "so what?" and provides evidence that a student competency is not just mastered but has affected course-taking patterns, graduation rates, knowledge attainment, attendance, behavior, and/or academic achievement (ASCA, 2003).
- School improvement data presents the picture of the current status of student needs, accomplishments and progress. When the school counseling program impacts school improvement data, effectiveness is self evident and these intentional practices lead to higher levels of student success (Stone & Dahir, 2004)

Finding Data

School-based annual school report cards publicize data elements such as attendance, demographics, graduation and postsecondary planning rates, and standardized test results. When data is disaggregated into categories such as ethnicity, gender, socioeconomic status, or teacher assignment it provides information for the analysis of student performance. It is then possible to more closely examine which groups of students are successful and which are failing. For example, data analyses would provide factual information for a school counselor to investigate whether or not equitable access to academically rigorous course-work was available to all students.

A school counselor familiar with using data to effect systemic change makes a strong case for looking at the equity issues in educational placement practices. Every student is entitled to a quality education and the opportunity to avail themselves of career and technical programs, music, art, languages, technology or advanced placement courses. The use of data will confirm that every student has a program of study and career plan that is commensurate with their aspirations and dreams.

Using data enables school counselors to work in tandem with building administrators and faculty to close the achievement gap. School counselors can collaborate with faculty to devise strategies that will enable more students to move successfully from grade level to grade level. When school counselors work with the same school-based data as their colleagues, they share accountability for student outcomes and contribute to moving critical data elements in a positive direction.

Critical Data Elements Can Include:

- ❖ Student report card grades
- ❖ Comments on student report cards
- ❖ TCAP (Terra Nova, Gateway and End of Course Exam) results
- ❖ Participation in academic support services
- ❖ Passing rates each quarter
- ❖ High school graduation rates
- ❖ Promotion from grade level to grade level

- ❖ Enrollment in Honors, AP, IB, College Level Courses
- ❖ GPA
- ❖ Number of students with career and education plans at the middle and high school
- ❖ Number of students enrolling in postsecondary education
- ❖ Number of students successfully completing postsecondary education

- ❖ Special Education referrals
- ❖ Drop out rates
- ❖ Attendance
- ❖ Discipline referrals
- ❖ Suspensions
- ❖ Mobility

A MEASURE of Student Success –

MEASURE, a six-step accountability process, confirms the impact of the school counseling program on critical data, those elements of the school report card that are the backbone of the accountability movement. MEASURE supports the accountability component of the ASCA National Model (2003) and moves school counselors from a “counting tasks” system to aligning the school counseling program with standards-based reform. MEASURE is a way of using information such as retention rates, test scores, and post-secondary going-rates to develop specific strategies for connecting school counseling to the accountability agenda of today’s schools.

MEASURE is an acronym for:

Mission: connect the comprehensive K-12 school-counseling program to the mission of the school and to the goals of the annual school improvement plan

Elements: identify the critical data elements that are important to the internal and external stakeholders

Aalyze: discuss carefully which elements need to be aggregated or disaggregated and why

Stakeholders - Unite: determine which stakeholders need to be involved in addressing these school-improvement issues and unite to develop strategies

Reanalyze: examine your results or your impact and rethink and refine the strategies, refocus efforts as needed

Educate: show the positive impact the school-counseling program has had on student achievement and on the goals of the school improvement plan

MISSION

Student achievement and success in rigorous academics is at the heart of every school's mission statement. School counselors need to ask how every aspect of their program supports the mission of the school and contributes to student achievement. Preparing students to choose from a wide array of options after high school is part of every school district's mission for academic success for every student and is congruent with the goals of the school board.

ELEMENTS

Critical data elements can usually be found on the school's district or building report card. School systems routinely collect and store both academic and demographic data in a retrievable form and school counselors have ready access to data in areas such as course enrollment patterns and attendance that contribute to achievement. Disaggregating data into separate elements in a variety of ways ensures that the system addresses access and equity issues. This approach to looking at data guarantees that no group of students is ignored or left behind.

ANALYZE

Analysis will determine the institutional or environmental barriers that may be impeding student achievement and adversely influencing the data elements. School counselors can initially determine which elements to address first as well as which elements the school counseling program can move to specific targets in a positive direction. Because data alone does not tell the whole story, it is important to disaggregate the critical data elements on which to focus and to look at them in terms of gender, race/ethnicity, socio-economic status, and perhaps by teacher to shed light on areas of success or areas in need. The data elements that impact the school improvement plan then become more apparent.

STAKEHOLDERS-UNITE

By collaborating with other stakeholders, school counselors avoid tackling issues in isolation. Creating and implementing strategies collaboratively will begin to move the data in a positive direction.

REANALYZE, REFLECT, AND REVISE

School counselors periodically review the data and strategies to see if the goals of the “MEASURE” were met. This requires refining and reflecting on which interventions and strategies successfully moved the critical data elements in a positive direction. If the targeted results were not met, then it is important to also reanalyze and refocus the strategies to determine why the interventions were unsuccessful in moving the data in a positive direction.

EDUCATE

Publicizing the results of an effective school counseling program is a vital step in the accountability process, and as a result, both internal and external stakeholders will have a deeper understanding about the contributions of the program that focus on student success. As partners in school improvement, school counselors have demonstrated a willingness to be accountable for impacting critical data and are viewed as essential to the school’s mission.

STEP ONE: MISSION

Connect your work to your school’s mission statement.
The mission of our high school is to provide an environment that nurtures and values each individual, and provides opportunities to enhance the intellectual, social, and physical capabilities of all students. Our graduates are prepared to meet the challenges of the 21 st century and contribute to community and society.

STEP TWO: ELEMENTS

Identify the critical data elements such as grades, test scores, attendance, promotion rates, and postsecondary going rate.
The school counselors as part of the leadership team identified these critical data elements to attempt to impact: increase postsecondary-going rates

STEP THREE: ANALYZE

Determine which elements need to be desegregated such as race, ethnicity, gender, SES, teacher assignment.
Baseline: Where does the data fall currently? May 2004 68% students seek higher level academics 49% Caucasian; 17% African American; 2% Hispanic	Goal: Where should the data element be at the end of the school year? Increase post secondary going rates for Caucasians by 5%; Increase post secondary going rates for African Americans by 10%; Increase Hispanic rates by 10%

STEP FOUR: STAKEHOLDERS - UNITE

Determine which stakeholders need to be involved and unite to develop strategies to change systems as well as impact individual students and targeted groups of students.
Impacting systems means 1) replicating successful programs and interventions, 2) identifying barriers that adversely stratify students' opportunities to be successful learners, 3) and developing strategies to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> change policies, practices, and procedures strengthen curriculum offerings maximize the instructional program enhance the school/classroom culture and climate provide student academic support systems (safety nets) influence course enrollment patterns to widen access to rigorous academics involve parents and other critical stakeholders (internal and external to the school) raise aspirations in students, parents, teachers, and the community change attitudes and beliefs about students and their abilities to learn

STEP FIVE: REANALYZE, REFLECT, AND REVISE

Reanalyze: Analyze the data again. Did the baseline data move?	Reflect and Revise: Reflect on why the stakeholders were successful or unsuccessful.
Where is the data now? Did the strategies have a positive impact on the data? Baseline data: May 2004 68% postsecondary-going rate May 2005 74% postsecondary-going rates The strategies moved the data in a positive direction.	Revise the Action Plan so that progress can be made and will get better. Which of the strategies worked? The rewards ceremony and certificates based on grades and courses passed were effective. Students loved the Job Shadowing Day Which strategies should be replaced? Added? We need to include parents in the plan. Postsecondary training institutions should be invited to the planning sessions Based on what you have learned, how will you rewrite the action plan? Closely monitor the incoming 9th grade from day 1; monitor all students who fail one or more subjects each quarter.

STEP SIX: EDUCATE

Promote and publicize the results.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Results positively impacted school climate by moving to a reward system for courses passed. Analysis of results resulted in implementation of data driven decision-making across the ninth grade staff including teachers, school counselors and student support services personnel.

Educate means to highlight your work in supporting student achievement and publish a report of the results. Educate others as to your results in the most efficient and effective way you deem appropriate. This can be verbal or written but written is more powerful. One type of written report is the Student Personnel Accountability Report Card, or SPARC a simple one to two page report developed by the Los Angeles County Office of Education and the California Department of Education to demonstrate results”(California Dept. of Education, 2004). SPARC has been adapted here to capture students who represent the data in the section called “Faces Behind the Data.”

The principal’s message affirms that the administration and faculty are aware of the counseling program’s mission and work and are supportive of its efforts. Data is crucial in not only ascertaining the current school situation, but also in determining how successful interventions, school counseling curriculum, educational and career planning and other delivery mechanisms were in achieving student results. Collaboration and working with all stakeholders, including faculty, parents and the community, is a key component of a SPARC. Whether published on the school counseling department's website or distributed at a parent event, the SPARC demonstrates the value of the counseling program and helps school personnel and community members gauge how students are different because of the work and priorities of school counselors.

School improvement is hard work! Acting as agents of school and community change, school counselors can contribute to a climate where access and support for quality and rigor is the norm. In doing so, underserved and under-represented students now have a chance at acquiring the education skills necessary to fully participate in the 21st century economy. With an accountable, data-driven school counseling program, school counselors are seen as powerful partners and collaborators in school improvement and essential to fulfill the mission of every school. School counselor accountability becomes a MEASURE of student success.

Results Reports

These reports ensure programs are carried out, analyzed for effectiveness and changed and further improved as needed. The goal is to demonstrate change in student knowledge, attitudes and skills within the academic, personal/social and career domains.

Such results reports may include the following:

- grade level served
- lesson content area
- curriculum/materials used
- # of participants served/affected
- desired results
- actual results
- person delivering service
- timeline

Other reports, which analyze the program's impact over time, may include the following:

- demographic data
- attendance data
- suspension and expulsion rates
- behavior referrals
- promotion/retention rates
- graduation rates
- test results
- family involvement rates

See Appendix for sample RESULTS REPORTS

Program Audit

The program audit is used to assess the school counseling program in comparison with the Tennessee Model for Comprehensive School Counseling. Audits are first conducted when a program is first being designed and then yearly to appraise the progress of the development of the program. Program results should be shared with the Advisor Council and school administration.

Sample PROGRAM AUDIT forms are available in the ASCA National Model.

Special Groups State Model for Local Evaluation

The Comprehensive Education Reform Act of 1984 (CERA) required that apprentice educators be evaluated at the local level using a State model or a locally developed plan that has been approved by the State Board of Education. State Board of Education rules additionally require the local evaluation of educators with a professional license. The State Board of Education has approved guidelines for local evaluation. The local school system has the option of evaluating educators more often than required by law.

Groups of educators who must be evaluated to meet requirements of the law are:

Educators with Apprentice License: In their first through years of teaching, these educators must be evaluated each year.

Educators with Professional License: In the life of a ten-year license, these educators must be evaluated twice.

Evaluations shall be conducted by the immediate supervisor or their designee. This designee must be the person responsible for evaluating educators as defined by the local board of education.

The Special Groups State Model for Local Evaluation is intended for educators who work in non-classroom settings most of the time. This population includes counselors, psychologists, social workers, consulting teachers, and attendance supervisors. Although all instruments in this model can be used for educators who have a mix of classroom and non-classroom experiences, the special groups model was designed for coordination with the State Model for Local Evaluation. For example, the evaluator can use the observation instrument from the special groups model or the one from the State Model for Local Evaluation when observing a counselor in a classroom setting.

FOCUS OF EVALUATION

Counselors are evaluated in six major areas (domains) of competency. These major areas are similar to the domains of competence in the comprehensive assessment for classroom teachers. The six domains are:

- Planning
- Delivers Effective Service
- Evaluation
- Program Management
- Leadership
- Communication

Throughout the evaluation period, the evaluator gathers information about the counselor through observations, conferences, and a review of the counselor's professionally related materials and professional leadership activities. This information must be reviewed with the counselor at a year-end conference and be translated into a five-point rating scale.

COMPETENCY SCORES

Many of the counselors evaluated under this model will already have a professional license. A few may be beginning public school experience. One does not expect beginning educators to have the same levels of performance as more experienced educators. Therefore, the following patterns of performance as indicated by competency scores should be present for an individual's performance to be judged satisfactory:

1. Educators with Apprentice License (1st year counselors) – For Competencies I, II, III, IV: 3 competency scores of 3 or higher and 1 score of 2 or higher; for Competency V (Leadership): a score of 2 or higher; for Competency VI (Communication) a score of 3 or higher
2. Educators with Apprentice License (2nd – 3rd year counselors) – For Competencies I, II, III, IV, V: 2 competency scores of 4 or higher and 3 scores of 3 or higher; for Competency VI (Communication): a score of 4 or higher
3. Educators with Professional License (3+ years experience) – For Competencies I, II, III, IV, V: 4 competency scores of 4 or higher and 1 competency score of 3 or higher; for Competency VI (Communication): a score of 4 or higher

Selected sections of the Special Groups State Model for Local Evaluation Manual are included on the following pages. For a complete copy of the document, go to:

<http://tennessee.gov/education/frameval/specman.pdf>

Examination of the entire evaluation document is encouraged for all school counselors.

Step One: Mission

Mission

Connect your work to your school's mission

Your mission statement is:

Step Two: Elements

Current Critical Data Element

What indicator of school success are you trying to positively impact? Grades? Test scores? Attendance? Promotion Rates? Postsecondary going rate?

The school counselor as part of the leadership team identified these critical data elements to try to impact:

Step Three: Analyze

Analyze the data to see what it reveals, to identify the problem areas, to establish your baseline, and to set your goal. It may be necessary to disaggregate the data, e.g. race, ethnicity, gender, SES, teacher assignment.

Baseline: Where is this data element currently?

Goal: Where do you want the data Element to be in a year?

Step Four: Stakeholders-Unite

Develop an Action Plan

School Counselors, as managers of resources, join existing groups of stakeholders, such as the school improvement team, or bring other stakeholders and resources into the task of creating and implementing an action plan. Strategies are developed that will change systems as well as impact individual students and targeted groups of students.

Impacting systems means (1) replicating successful programs and interventions; (2) identifying barriers that adversely stratify students' opportunities to be successful learners; and (3) developing strategies to:

- change policies, practices, and procedures
- strengthen curriculum offerings
- maximize the instructional program
- enhance the school and classroom culture and climate
- provide student academic support systems (safety nets)
- influence course enrollment patterns to widen access to rigorous academics
- involve parents and other critical stakeholders (internal and external to the school)
- raise aspirations in students, parents, teachers, the community
- change attitudes and beliefs about students and their abilities to learn

Step Five: Reanalyze, Reflect, and Revise

Reanalyze Restate the baseline data. Where is the data after the action plan? Did the strategies have a positive impact on the data? Restate the baseline data: Data after action plan: Impact:	Reflect and Revise Reflect on why the stakeholders were successful or unsuccessful. Revise the action plan so that progress can be made and you can continue to get better results. Which of the strategies worked? Which strategies should be replaced? Added? Based on what you have learned, how will you revise the action plan?

Systemic Changes Made

Whenever you implement a MEASURE you will contribute to systemic change. Each MEASURE will in some way change a school, home, or community system to enhance student learning. Capture these systemic changes here and record them on your SPARC.

Step Six: Educate

Promote and publicize the results of your work. Develop a report card for your own program to let the internal and external school members know your work is connected to the mission of the schools and to student success. The School Counseling Program Accountability Report Card (SPARC) is a way to do this.
